MELANGE

MELTONS

The Melange Meltons range consists of four unique fabrics, united in their depth of colour and interesting shade variation. The term melange is French in its origin, referring to a mix of different shades of fibre which are blended together and spun into a yarn to produce a woven fabric with a distinctive marbled effect. Made from wool, the Melange Meltons range consists of a choice of fibre compositions suitable for heavy use upholstery, drapes and cushions.

Marble Melange is made up of 70% wool and 30% other fibres which include Nylon and Polyester. This quality incorporates more than 30% recycled fibres.

Overcoating and REN Khaki are made from 100% wool. REN khaki is a historical classic with a contemporary feel, originally developed for British Military uniforms during WWI. This quality incorporates five different shades of fibre to represent the natural elements of earth, sky and air.
